ABOUT ME

Entry-level data professional building a foundation in SQL, ETL, and Data Warehousing (IBM, in progress), with hands-on experience delivering data products as founder of WITHDATA. Built a predictive forecasting model and a natural-language querying platform that turns business data into charts and tables to support decision-making. A background in B2B content and growth marketing brings strong communication skills and a business-outcomes lens to data work.

WORK EXPERIENCE

• Co-Founder & Data Developer • WITHDATA

IT Consulting | 2026 – Present

- Founded an IT consulting firm developing automation and integration tools built on data infrastructure.
- Developed a natural-language querying platform in JavaScript that transforms business data into charts and tables to support decision-making.
- Built a predictive forecasting model to help clients anticipate business trends from historical data.
- Currently developing a custom data solution for a client to address specific operational needs, applying SQL, ETL, and data-integration practices
